Experiments - Philip Knox

2018-05-31

Throughout the Middle Ages, fictional frameworks could be used as imaginative spaces in which to test or play with ideas without asserting their truth. The aim of this volume is to consider how intellectual problems were approached--if not necessarily resolved--through the kinds of hypothetical enquiry found in poetry and in other texts that employ fictional or imaginative strategies. Scholars working across the spectrum of medieval languages and academic disciplines consider why a writer might choose a fictional or hypothetical frame to discuss theoretical questions, how a work's truth content is affected and shaped by its fictive nature, or what kinds of affective or intellectual work its reading demands. By reading literary, philosophical, and spiritual texts from England, France, and Italy alongside each other, this collection offers a new interdisciplinary approach to the history of medieval thought.

The Music Room - Dennis McFarland 2014-01-28

Dennis McFarland's acclaimed debut novel, hailed by the New York Times Book Review as "a rare pleasure . . . Remarkable from its beginning to its surprising, satisfying end" Musician Marty Lambert's life is already falling apart when he receives the phone call that changes everything. His brother, Perry, has killed himself in New York, and Marty—with his marriage on the rocks and his record company sliding into insolvency—decides to leave San Francisco to investigate exactly what went wrong. His trip sends him headlong into the life his only brother left behind—his pleasures and disappointments, his friends, his lovely girlfriend, Jane—and finally, to the home they shared growing up in Virginia. Along the way, through memories and dreams, Marty relives their complicated upbringing as the children of talented, volatile musicians and alcoholics. Through the tragedy, Marty finally faces the demons of his past, ones he pretended he had buried long ago, to emerge on the other side of grief, toward solace and a more hopeful future.

Nostalgic Postmodernism - Christian Gutleben 2021-10-18
Why do so many contemporary British novels revert to the Victorian tradition in order to find a new source of inspiration? What does it mean from an ideological point of view to build a modern form of art by resurrecting and recycling an art of the past? From a formal point of view what are the aesthetic priorities established by these postmodernist novels? Those are the main questions tackled by this study intended for anybody interested in the aesthetic and ideological evolution of very recent fiction. What this analysis ultimately proposes is a reevaluation and a redefinition of postmodernism such as it is illustrated by the British novels which paradoxically both praise and mock, honour and debunk, imitate and subvert their Victorian models. Unashamedly opportunistic and deliberately exploiting the spirit of the time, this late form of postmodernism cannibalizes and reshapes not only Victorianism but all the other previous aesthetic movements - including early postmodernism. The Temple of Gnidus - Charles de Secondat Montesquieu

The 18th century was a wealth of knowledge, exploration and rapidly growing technology and expanding record-keeping made possible by advances in the printing press. In its determination to preserve the century of revolution, Gale initiated a revolution of its own: digitization of epic proportions to preserve these invaluable works in the largest archive of its kind. Now for the first time these high-quality digital copies of original 18th century manuscripts are available in print, making them highly accessible to libraries, undergraduate students, and independent scholars. Western literary study flows out of eighteenth-century works by Alexander Pope, Daniel Defoe, Henry Fielding, Frances Burney, Denis Diderot, Johann Gottfried Herder, Johann Wolfgang von Goethe, and others. Le Songe Du Vieil Pelerin - Philippe de Mézières 1969 "This French medieval text is now published in its entirety, accompanied by an introduction and extensive synopses in English. Philippe de Mezieres (1327-1405) was a French soldier, publicist and statesman who travelled widely through much of the Christian world and served a number of rulers, particularly the King of Cyprus and Charles V and VI of France. Throughout his life Philippe de Mezieres was obsessed by the ideal that the West must reform itself in the light of the Christian view of the good life and he urged all Christian rulers to join together in a final crusade to liberate the Holy Land and the eastern Christian empires. This is the underlying theme of Le Songe du Vieil Pelerin, Philippe de Mezieres' major work. It is divided into three parts: the first is a wide-ranging survey of the Christian world, the second an examination of the state of France and the third a study of the duties and requirements of authority. The style is highly allegorical but contains much personal observation and historical fact."--

Le baiser d'Hypocras - Françoise Le Mer 2017-08-17 Meurtres à l'arme naturelle en Bretagne Vincent Delteil n'est sans doute pas un homme né sous une bonne étoile. Socialement, il exerce un métier difficile, qu'il aime et respecte, mais dont tout le monde a peur... Il est thanatopracteur. S'il mettait sa vie privée en pâture, il serait sûrement la risée de plus d'un... pourtant, Vincent est un homme bien. C'est du moins ce qu'affirme l'ex-épouse du commissaire Le Gwen qu'il a connue dans sa jeunesse. Il vit dans un endroit dont chacun rêve, l'Île-aux-Moines. Ce lieu magique, tendre comme l'enfance, va être le théâtre de plusieurs crimes, homophobes, autant qu'on puisse en juger. L'esprit retors qui les orchestre trouve son arme dans la nature. La ciguë ! N'est-ce pas ainsi qu'a été exécuté Socrate ? Un roman policier récompensé par le Prix du Polar Insulaire 2016 à Ouessant. À ne pas manquer ! EXTRAIT À la façon qu'elle avait de plisser les yeux, de le regarder à la dérobée, Vincent Delteil sut qu'il n'échapperait pas à l'interrogatoire. D'ailleurs, en rejoignant Maya dans ce café où ils s'étaient donné rendez-vous la veille, l'homme s'était vaguement préparé à un assaut en règle. Déjà, le bonheur pur et simple de leurs retrouvailles s'estompait. Un léger silence venait de s'installer à leur table. — Il faut qu'on se parle, papa. Curieux comme cette phrase anodine est toujours chargée d'électricité, pensa-t-il. — N'est-ce pas ce que l'on fait depuis un quart d'heure ? répondit-il pour gagner quelques dérisoires secondes. Sa fille se pencha vers lui. Dans quelques instants, elle lui prendrait la main, il en était sûr, tel un médecin s'attachant au pouls d'un grabataire. — Sérieusement, fit-elle, en lui caressant furtivement les doigts, je m'inquiète beaucoup pour toi. Il faut que tu trouves le courage de te libérer de son emprise, de divorcer. Tu sais, ajouta-t-elle de sa voix mélodieuse, j'ai eu un cours passionnant à la fac, le mois dernier. L'étude clinique d'un cas de pervers narcissique. Là, il s'agissait d'un homme. Mais je suis certaine que ta femme souffre de cette pathologie. C'était bluffant ! Je croyais la revoir au détour de chaque page du rapport. CE QU'EN PENSE LA CRITIQUE J'ai lu avec un très vif plaisir le 16eme roman de Françoise le Mer, justement récompensé du prix 2016 du polar insulaire de Ouessant ! - Lounard, Babelio J'aime la façon dont Françoise le Mer étudie ses personnages. La détresse de Vincent ne peut que vous toucher et vous vous demandez jusqu'au bout comment il va pouvoir sortir de la toile d'araignée tissée par sa femme. Dans un même temps, elle décrit avec justesse la douleur, le déchirement des jeunes homosexuels rejetés par leurs familles et les liens sociaux contraignants parfois jusqu'à la bêtise. - tana77, Babelio À PROPOS DE L'AUTEURE Avec seize titres déjà publiés, Françoise Le Mer a su s'imposer comme l'un des auteurs de romans policiers bretons les plus appréciés et les plus lus. Sa qualité d'écriture et la finesse de ses intrigues, basées sur la psychologie des personnages, alternant descriptions poétiques, dialogues humoristiques, et suspense à couper le souffle, sont régulièrement saluées par la critique. Née à Douarnenez en 1957, Françoise Le Mer enseigne le français dans le Sud-Finistère et vit à Pouldreuzic.

Good Night, Mr. Holmes -

Carole Nelson Douglas

Winner of the American Mystery Award for Best Novel of Romantic Suspense, and the Romantic Times Award for Best Historical Mystery Miss Irene Adler, the beautiful American opera singer who once outwitted Sherlock Holmes, is also a superb detective, as Oscar Wilde and Bram Stoker can attest. Even Holmes himself must admit--albeit grudgingly--that she acquits herself competently. But in matters of the heart she encounters difficulty. The Crown Prince of Bohemia--tall, blonde, and handsome--proves to be a cad. Will dashing barrister Godfrey Norton be able to convince Irene that not all handsome men are cut from the same broadcloth? Guy Ritchie is directing a new film for Warner Bros. based on the life of Sherlock Holmes, due out in the fall of 2009. Robert Downey Jr. is Holmes, Jude Law is his able sidekick Dr. Watson. Rachel McAdams portrays Irene Adler, a femme fatale who Holmes always considered to be "the woman"--and who outwitted Holmes when few could.

School for the Blind - Dennis McFarland 2014-01-28

When two students are found dead in their small Florida hometown, an aging brother and sister are forced to confront their own dark past while on the hunt for a murderer. As a successful news photographer, Francis Brimm has lived a life of adventure, traveling the world and accumulating little baggage—either material or personal. Now nearing retirement, he has decided to move back to his Florida hometown, where his sister, Muriel, by her own admission, has led a much less fulfilling existence. As children of an alcoholic father and an icy, withholding mother, the siblings have found that the wounds of childhood remain well into adulthood. The scars of their past come into stark relief when Francis and Muriel find the bones of two children, both students of the nearby school for the blind. In the search for the killer, they are both forced to reexamine the long-ago trauma that shaped their lives. Suspenseful and psychologically astute, School for the Blind is a masterpiece of literary fiction by bestselling author Dennis McFarland.

Madame Bovary - Gustave Flaubert 1982-06-01

This exquisite novel tells the story of one of the most compelling heroines in modern literature--Emma Bovary. "Madame Bovary has a perfection that not only stamps it, but that makes it stand almost alone; it holds itself with such a supreme unapproachable assurance as both excites and defies judgement." - Henry James Unhappily married to a devoted, clumsy provincial doctor, Emma revolts against the ordinariness of her life by pursuing voluptuous dreams of ecstasy and love. But her sensuous and sentimental desires lead her only to suffering corruption and downfall. A brilliant psychological portrait, Madame Bovary searingly depicts the human mind in search of transcendence. Who is Madame Bovary? Flaubert's answer to this question was superb: "Madame Bovary, c'est moi." Acclaimed as a masterpiece upon its publication in 1857, the work catapulted Flaubert to the ranks of the world's greatest novelists. This volume, with its fine translation by Lowell Bair, a perceptive introduction by Leo Bersani, and a complete supplement of essays and critical comments, is the indispensable Madame Bovary. Madame Bovary (New Edition) - Gustave Flaubert 2019-06-27 Madame Bovary is the French writer Gustave Flaubert's debut novel. The story focuses on a doctor's wife, Emma Bovary, who has adulterous affairs and lives beyond her means in order to escape the banalities and emptiness of provincial life. Though the basic plot is rather simple, even archetypal, the novel's true art lies in its details and hidden patterns. Flaubert was a notorious perfectionist and claimed always to be searching for le mot juste ("the precise word"). Long established as one of the greatest novels ever written, the book has often been described as a "perfect" work of fiction. Henry James writes: "Madame Bovary has a perfection that not only stamps it, but that makes it stand almost alone; it holds itself with such a supreme unapproachable assurance as both excites and defies judgment." Giorgio de Chirico said that in his opinion "from the narrative point of view, the most perfect book is Madame Bovary by Flaubert".

Boy Heaven - Laura Kasischke

They were seventeen with perfect tans and perfect bodies. They planned on a joyride in a convertible on a hot summer day. They planned on skinny-dipping in a beautiful, secluded lake. They planned on making it back to camp before anyone noticed they were gone. What they didn't plan on was being followed by two guys in a beat-up station wagon. Their day soon takes a drastic turn—all because Kristy Sweetland smiled at the wrong time, in the wrong place, at the wrong boys. Now the girls feel prying eyes on them all the time—during pep practice, on the path through the woods, outside the window of their cabin. The boys are stalking them, leaving threatening notes on their beds, and watching their every move. Boy Heaven is a provocative, page-turning mystery, and a must-read for anyone who loves an urban legend.

Gender and Political Culture in Early Modern Europe, 1400-1800 - James Daybell 2016-07-01

Gender and Political Culture in Early Modern Europe investigates the gendered nature of political culture across early modern Europe by exploring the relationship between gender, power, and political authority and influence. This collection offers a rethinking of what constituted 'politics' and a reconsideration of how men and women operated as part of political culture. It demonstrates how underlying structures could enable or constrain political action, and how political power and influence could be exercised through social and cultural practices. The book is divided into four parts - diplomacy, gifts and the politics of exchange; socio-economic structures; gendered politics at court; and voting and political representations - each of which looks at a series of interrelated themes exploring the ways in which political culture is inflected by questions of gender. In addition to examples drawn from across Europe, including Austria, the Dutch Republic, the Italian States and Scandinavia, the volume also takes a transnational comparative approach, crossing national borders, while the concluding chapter, by Merry Wiesner-Hanks, offers a global perspective on the field and encourages comparative analysis both chronologically and geographically. As the first collection to draw together early modern gender and political culture, this book is the perfect starting point for students exploring this fascinating topic.

Marie Hugo 2021-08-23

The Hunchback of Notre-Dame is a French Gothic novel by Victor Hugo published in January 14, 1831. The title refers to the Notre Dame Cathedral in Paris, on which the story is centered. Set in medieval Paris, it tells the story of the beautiful gypsy Esmeralda, condemned as a witch by the tormented archdeacon Claude Frollo, who lusts after her. Quasimodo, the deformed bell ringer of Notre-Dame Cathedral, having fallen in love with the kindhearted Esmeralda, tries to save her by hiding her in the cathedral's tower.
